not fine these stu- t time, but give out a warning," Mr. Hansen said. "In many colleges students pay as much as $25 for a parking space in a lot. I hope we don't have any students that will end up paying the same amount.

"THE DOLLAR fine is paid in preference to having the car towed away. The owner would have to pay much more for the towing charge and he might suffer damage to his car in the process."

Mr. Hansen was appointed by the ASB to be mediator of students who would go through the lot checking for stickered cars. Those cars that are found without stickers will have their license plates checked with the state licenses for the owner. The appointed "police" will check the parking lot about twice a week.

Fine money will again be used to pay for the policing of the lot and lot improvements.

The parking lot behind the gym will not be policed so students without stickers or temporary parkers could park there.

"I hope we can start in Monday by getting stalls marked in the lot," Mr. Hansen said.

Nike, CBC mascot, is awaiting the Chiawana Zoological Society decision on whether to maintain or dissolve the zoo.

According to Charles D. Kilbury of the Park Board, the Chiawana Zoological Society is scheduled to take over the maintenance of the zoo March 1.

Jim Simonton, who is now in charge of the zoo, said that first the members of the zoological society must vote on the issue. Then the county commissioners and the Army Engineers must give their approval. The Army has complete control over the area where the zoo is located, and must give their approval.

IF THE measure is not approved by these authorities, the zoo will have to be closed; and something will have to be done about the CBC hawk.

Sigvard Hansen, director of men's activities, said that if the students keep the hawk on campus it will require care and maintenance daily, including weekends. Hansen said that the hawk must be protected from other predators as well as the usual tasks of caring for animals.

A cage constructed at CBC expense permanently housed the hawk at the Chiawana Zoo. CBC has a smaller cage for transporting it to and from games.

"I WON'T tolerate anything but that he be properly taken care of," Mr. Hansen said.

T. H. White, deceased author who recently lectured at CBC, suggested several times to Mrs. Stappler during his visit that the hawk be brought to the campus and kept here.

VENETTA STAPPLER, dir-

Nike, CBC Mascot

ector of women's activities, said that Mr. White suggested that a cement block be constructed with a large chain imbedded in it on the grounds facing the front entrance, and that the chain be attached to the hawk. One of his favorite hobbies was falconry, and he opposed our method of keeping Nike in a cage; although, according to Mr. Hansen, no less than $100 was spent to construct a suitable and comfortable cage.

Hansen concluded that the issue will be left up to the student body to decide what measures to take if the Chiawana Zoo closes.

Hansen Suggests No Film

Mr. Hansen, ASB advisor, has suggested to the ASB officers that they not spend any more money on foreign films until they are sure of the outcome of the Bud and Travis hootenanny which they are supporting. He also reminded the ASB that they had invested $700 in the spring talent show.

"If Bud and Travis are successful," Mr. Hansen said, "then I think the ASB should go ahead and support more films. If they lose money on the hootenanny then one of the campus organizations will probably have to sponsor the films and charge a slight admission fee.

Council Debating ASB Incorporation

Sigvard Hansen, ASB advisor, said that the proposed incorporation of the ASB may be dropped. "The deeper the ASB investigates into incorporation," Mr. Hansen said, "the more questions arise as to whether it is the right thing to do or not."

As an example of these problems, Mr. Hansen cited insurance rates. The present student insurance is being paid for by the Pasco school district. If the ASB becomes a separate entity, as it would under incorporation, the college would be forced to buy its own insurance.

The Pasco School District has asked that the ASB check all facets of incorporation with an attorney to uncover its advantages and disadvantages.

Phi Theta Kappa Taps Five Sophomores

Joan Anderson, Clyde Bromley, Dale Jim Collins, Larry Fluharty and Lanaya Nielson were tapped for Phi Kappa membership.

The tapping of these sophomores took place on Monday, February 3.

Tapping for freshmen will be some time in March. Initiation for both sophomores and freshmen will be in April.

Unite, Unite

There is a rumor that the CBC administration intends to partition the lounge and make it into an on-campus dorm.

Since most of the CBC students live there now, why not have all of us there permanently?

A whole campus complex could be built around a dormitory. The present parking lots would serve admirably and the school gym would provide recreational facilities.

Yakima Junior College has had dorms for some years. As a result, the college has drawn students from areas outside the normal junior college region, and has provided educational facilities for a large number of people who would not otherwise get these benefits.

However, YJC has been involved in an almost constant legal battle over these dorms.

Washington state law prohibits the owning or operating of dormitories by state junior colleges, on or off school property.

This permits the construction of privately owned living facilities near the campus; such facilities as are being built near CBC by the Hopkins Construction Company.

Since these buildings are maintained by a private company, the school has no control over the conduct of the students, or the condition of the facilities.

Dormitories on the campus would be under the complete control of the school, perhaps regulated by a student-faculty-administration committee, such as the present non-academic probation committee.

The dorms on campus would provide housing for students who are presently commuting great distances. Thus, the effective area of college coverage would be extended to the outlying districts from which daily travel is impractical.

A movement should be formed to force a change in the state law, permitting junior colleges to construct and operate housing facilities, thus extending their range of educational coverage.

Bogenberger Boys Visit UPS Today

Resolved: that the federal government should guarantee an opportunity for higher education to all qualified high school graduates.

CBC's debate team debates the preceding resolution at the Tyro Tournament at the University of Puget Sound, today and tomorrow, announced Donald Bogenberger, debate coach.

Bogenberger and the team traveled to Puget Sound by train this morning at 2 a.m. They will return at 4:30 a.m. Sunday.

Each member will compete 12 times. There will be six rounds of debate and individual events: oratory, oral reading and impromptu speaking.

Several Western states are invited to the annual tournament, Bogenberger said. Mainly four year colleges participate, with a few junior colleges.

Students Visit Olympia For W-DECA Talk

Joyce Coppersmith, Mike Brower, Dick Nordness, Glen Rosier and Carol Loveland represented CBCs Mid-Management Club at the first W-DECA Regional Mid-Management meeting in Olympia. The purposes of the meeting were: to give help, assistance and encouragement to schools interested in affiliating with the club program; and to acquaint present members with State contest activities prior to the Leadership Conference to be held in Yakima in March.

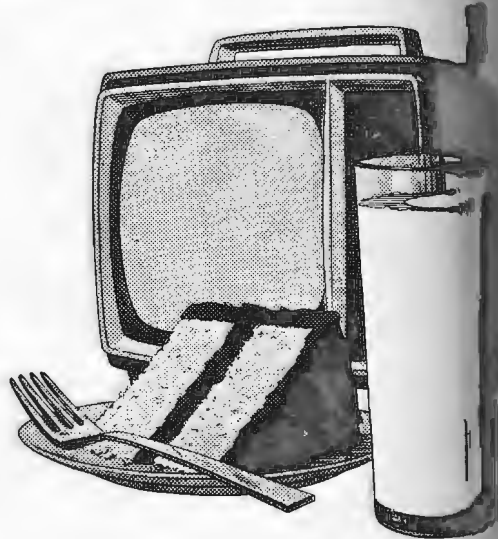

FIRE: Fire up the school spirit. Go cheer for the Hawks as they extend their winning streak.

Milk makes a meal

Pour a glass—tall and cold and fresh. How could anything so great-tasting possibly be good for you! But, then, that's Milk, other food quite like it. A glass with every meal assures us the "instant energy" — while it builds strong bones and teeth, maintains bright eyes, and general tributes to our well-being. What a way to stay in good health!

Team Managers Are Sports' Unsung Heroes

By ED GIRVAN

Collegiate Sports Editor

Larry Groshoff and Nate Ha'r are doing things in two's this quarter at CBC.

Not only are they roommates, but both are managers for Coach Jim Rodgers undefeated basketball team.

TEAM MANAGERS play a key role in the player's attitude, as well as coaches and fans. Before each game, they supply that go-get'm spirit that makes a ball club a winning one.

What would happen if there were no team managers? There wouldn't be those clean, white towels waiting for the players after their showers; there wouldn't be anyone to pack the gear, help them with whirlpool treatments, tape their ankles and wrists before a ball game or toss an orange to each player before going home; then there wouldn't be anyone to carry in the pop, give moral support to a player when he's shooting a little cold or respond to the coaches wishes.

The list could go on. For men that have been doing things in two's this quarter, their managements are certainly being admired all over the state of Washington in triples.

Hawks to Wrestle Last Home Match

Columbia Basin wrestling team concludes its home wrestling schedule this weekend with a match this afternoon with Skagit and another tomorrow with Yakima.

Two bouts remain on the slate after this week, both on the road. Next Saturday the CBC matmen will travel to Skagit for a return match, and the following Friday to Big Bend.

SATURDAY, March 3, the State Meet will be held at Skagit. The men from Mt. Vernon are the defending 1962-63 champions. They are also undefeated this year.

Columbia Basin placed second at the meet a year ago and has Larry Gehrman, 6-0-0, defending state champ in the unlimited division as a returning letterman. He finished with a 14-0 record last season and is unbeaten in 20 starts. The Hawks ended 9-0-1, with a 14-14 tie at Skagit.

"WRESTLING is Skagit's major sport up there (Mt. Vernon) and it isn't trite to say they're going to be tough again this time," said wrestling coach Bob Graham.

The Library Has Microfilms Of Kennedy's Assassination

Mildred Partch, CBC librarian, received a documentary microfilm of the assassination of President Kennedy. Information for the microfilm was compiled by the Historical Archives department of Fresno, California.

The microfilm is divided into 33 sections from periodicals published in all parts of the country, including The Congressional Record. Most of the material from newspaper accounts is concentrated in the Dallas newspapers.

The periodical accounts give background information on the lives of Mr. Kennedy, President Johnson, Lee Harvey Oswald, Jack Ruby and other
